

Dear Digital Tech Frontier,

We want to thank your firm for surpassing our expectations in catering to our new Augmented Reality venture, and meeting the challenge of adapting to our needs creatively and enthusiastically.

The dimension that you added to our marketing campaign, coupled with your high degree of professionalism, attention to detail, and turnkey execution, gave everyone in our firm one less thing to worry about when trying to pull the marketing campaign together for our client Snowmass.

Augmented Reality is a great approach to adding interactivity to a print campaign. With very little time investment and virtually no learning curve for our consumers, the Augmented Reality application was a perfect way to connect our target market with Snowmass's brand in a unique and fun way.

Who would have thought a little piece of paper could be so immersive, entertaining, and successful!

Thanks again and we look forward to doing more Augmented Reality projects with your firm in the future.

Sincerely,

Kevin Roberts
